

Rough Draft Feedback—Global History Argument Essay

Name _____

This draft was read by: _____

Your draft:

- Is complete (introduction, 2 body paragraphs, conclusion)

Your draft is:

- On time (turned in on or before 1/4)

Your draft is missing:

- Introduction
- 1st body paragraph
- 2nd body paragraph
- Conclusion

Your draft is:

- Late (turned in on _____)

You are off to a great start with...

- Giving useful background info in the intro
- Writing a claim that takes a specific position and predicts what the rest of the essay will be about.
- Formatting each entry in well-organized paragraphs, especially in:
 - Intro
 - 1st body paragraph
 - 2nd body paragraph
 - Conclusion
- Incorporating evidence into your body paragraph, especially in:
 - 1st body paragraph
 - 2nd body paragraph
- Explaining your evidence. It's clear that you understand what the evidence means, especially in:
 - 1st body paragraph
 - 2nd body paragraph
- Tying your evidence back to your claim. It's makes your claim stronger, especially in:
 - 1st body paragraph
 - 2nd body paragraph
- Tying the conclusion to a larger idea, rather than simply restating the claim.
- Explaining your ideas clearly.
- Using your own words to explain your ideas.
- Making smooth transitions from one idea to the next (therefore, however, in addition, on the other hand)
- Using MLA format when citing sources
- Writing with correct spelling, grammar, punctuation, and capitalization.

Please work on...

- Giving useful background info in the intro
- Writing a claim that takes a specific position and predicts what the rest of the essay will be about.
- Formatting each entry in well-organized paragraphs, especially in:
 - Intro
 - 1st body paragraph
 - 2nd body paragraph
 - Conclusion
- Incorporating evidence into your body paragraph, especially in:
 - 1st body paragraph
 - 2nd body paragraph
- Explaining your evidence. It's clear that you understand what the evidence means, especially in:
 - 1st body paragraph
 - 2nd body paragraph
- Tying your evidence back to your claim. It's makes your claim stronger, especially in:
 - 1st body paragraph
 - 2nd body paragraph
- Tying the conclusion to a larger idea, rather than simply restating the claim.
- Explaining your ideas clearly.
- Using your own words to explain your ideas.
- Making smooth transitions from one idea to the next (therefore, however, in addition, on the other hand)
- Using MLA format when citing sources
- Writing with correct spelling, grammar, punctuation, and capitalization.

Other comments/suggestions:

- Check your facts about: